Government COVID-19 regulations:

IJNM is following all State and Central government covid norms and guidelines. In the case of a further lockdown, the quality of academics at IJNM will not be affected.

While the previous lockdowns upended social structures and wreaked havoc on the country's education system, IJNM was able to pivot to online classes and studios immediately. Here's how IJNM successfully taught journalism during the pandemic.

In the past, several banks have provided student loans to IJNM applicants who were accepted for admission. You may approach your local bank with whom your family has banking relationship for a student or personal loan for the programme.
